

T H E C L E V E L A N D M U S E U M O F A R T

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE
CLEVELAND, OHIO 44106
TELEPHONE 421-7346

For immediate release

Special to the Dayton Papers

More than 20 leading curators from art museums and university galleries throughout Ohio will hold a two-day conference at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16.

Among those attending will be Bruce H. Evans, acting director of the Dayton Art Institute, and Mark A. Clark, curator of decorative arts.

The meeting, second of its kind in the past year, is partially funded by a grant from the Ohio Arts Council, said William S. Talbot, associate curator of paintings at the Cleveland Museum and coordinator of the conference.

Representing more than a dozen institutions, the group will review matters of particular interest to art museums, including conservation of art objects, future curatorial personnel requirements, and plans for cooperative organization of exhibits.

#

3/8/74

THE CLEVELAND MUSEUM OF ART

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE
CLEVELAND, OHIO 44106
TELEPHONE 421-7346

For immediate release

Special to Columbus Papers

More than 20 leading curators from art museums and university galleries throughout Ohio will hold a two-day conference at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16.

Among those attending from the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts will be Edmund Kuehn, curator of collections, Katherine Paris, curator of decorative arts, and Donna H. Turner, director of education.

The meeting, second of its kind in the past year, is partially funded by a grant from the Ohio Arts Council, said William S. Talbot, associate curator of paintings at the Cleveland Museum and coordinator of the conference.

Representing more than a dozen institutions, the group will review matters of particular interest to art museums, including conservation of art objects, future curatorial personnel requirements, and plans for cooperative organization of exhibits.

#

3/8/74

THE CLEVELAND MUSEUM OF ART

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE
CLEVELAND, OHIO 44106
TELEPHONE 421-7346

For immediate release

Special to Oberlin News-Tribune

More than 20 leading curators from art museums and university galleries throughout Ohio will hold a two-day conference at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16.

A major presentation on the conservation of art objects will be made by Mrs. Marigene Butler and Richard Buck of the Intermuseum Conservation Association of Oberlin. They will be assisted by graduate trainees in conservation.

Also attending will be Katherine J. Watson, curator of art before 1800 of the Allen Memorial Art Museum.

The meeting, second of its kind in the past year, is partially funded by a grant from the Ohio Arts Council, said William S. Talbot, associate curator of paintings at the Cleveland Museum and coordinator of the conference.

Representing more than dozen institutions, the group will review matters of particular interest to art museums, including future curatorial personnel requirements and plans for cooperative organization of exhibits.

#

3/8/74

T H E C L E V E L A N D M U S E U M O F A R T

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE
CLEVELAND, OHIO 44106
TELEPHONE 421-7346

For immediate release

Special to the Canton Repository

More than 20 leading curators from art museums and university galleries throughout Ohio will hold a two-day conference at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16.

Jesse G. Wright, Jr., director of the Canton Art Institute, will present a plan for the cooperative organization, transport, and insurance of exhibits.

The meeting, second of its kind in the past year, is partially funded by a grant from the Ohio Arts Council, said William S. Talbot, associate curator of paintings at the Cleveland Museum and coordinator of the conference.

Representing more than a dozen institutions, the group will review matters of particular interest to art museums, including conservation of art objects and future curatorial personnel requirements.

#

3/8/74

T H E C L E V E L A N D M U S E U M O F A R T

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE
CLEVELAND, OHIO 44106
TELEPHONE 421-7346

For immediate release

Special to the Akron Beacon Journal

More than 20 leading curators from art museums and university galleries throughout Ohio will hold a two-day conference at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16.

Among those attending will be Robert M. Doty, director of the Akron Art Institute.

The meeting, second of its kind in the past year, is partially funded by a grant from the Ohio Arts Council, said William S. Talbot, associate curator of paintings at the Cleveland Museum and coordinator of the conference.

Representing more than a dozen institutions, the group will review matters of particular interest to art museums, including conservation of art objects, future curatorial personnel requirements, and plans for cooperative organization of exhibits.

#

3/8/74

T H E C L E V E L A N D M U S E U M O F A R T

PUBLIC RELATIONS OFFICE
CLEVELAND, OHIO 44106
TELEPHONE 421-7346

For immediate release.

Special to the Painesville Telegraph

More than 20 leading curators from art museums and university galleries throughout Ohio will hold a two-day conference at the Cleveland Museum of Art, Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16.

Among those attending will be Roger Williams, director of the B. K. Smith Gallery of Lake Erie College, and three assistant directors, David Miller, John Schmidt, and Shannon McGovern.

The meeting, second of its kind in the past year, is partially funded by a grant from the Ohio Arts Council, said William S. Talbot, associate curator of paintings at the Cleveland Museum and coordinator of the conference.

Representing more than a dozen institutions, the group will review matters of particular interest to art museums, including conservation of art objects, future curatorial personnel requirements, and plans for cooperative organization of exhibits.

#

3/8/74